Warning: Invalid argument supplied for foreach() in /u/h/holophone/www.holophone.com/plugins/system/rokcandy_system.php on line 144

{yoogallery src=[/images/stories/in_action/rb06/] style=[slideshow] spotlight=[0] }

Andrew Waterman of ATK Audiotek, Burbank California utilized an H2-PRO for the Rose Bowl game. Using the same technique as he had previously used to capture the Choir at the 2005 Super Bowl in Jacksonville, he wrapped the choir around the microphone to achieve an audio depth and 3-dimensional believability only available by using Holophone products.

The Holophone was clearly visible throughout the U.S. Military Choir's rendition of "America the Beautiful" and took center-stage with the choir adding to the classic look of this classy broadcast.